ABSTRACT

The invention uses the power of display selection methods to screen libraries of human immunoglobulin genes from nonhuman transgenic animals expresing human immunoglobulins. Such screening produces unlimited numbers of 5   high affinity human antibodies to any target of interest.